➤ HOME CARE FOR THE ELDERLY: PROVIDING COMFORT AND SUPPORT

When in-home assistance alone isn't sufficient for seniors, especially those with specialized care needs, mobility limitations, or chronic illnesses, additional options become essential.

Let's explore two primary choices:

Live-In Care for independent seniors who do not require constant supervision, and 24-Hour Care for those with complex needs or who require constant monitoring. Consider individual circumstances and consult healthcare professionals for the best senior care choice.

➤ HOW LONG CAN AN INDIVIDUAL USE SERVICES?

For duration of Palliative Services, we adopt an Adaptable Approach.

The provision of palliative services is not constrained by a specific timeframe. Patients are able to utilize these services from the point of diagnosis and throughout their end-of-life journey. This flexibility allows for modifications to be made in accordance with evolving symptoms and requirements. The emphasis remains steadfast on delivering empathetic care and assistance, irrespective of whether services are commencing or concluding.
